

National Film Archive of India
Ministry of Information and Broadcasting

Press – Release

National Film Archive of India (NFAI) is bringing yet another package of movies to cine-lovers of Pune this week. NFAI in coordination with Consulate General of the Republic of Korea in Mumbai, Korea Foundation, Korean Association Pune have organized a three-day 'Korean Film Festival in Pune', from 10th November, 2016 to 12th November, 2016.

Korean cinema in recent years has tried to portray different themes and has gained critical acclaim in major international film festivals. The festival will showcase some of these critically acclaimed and commercially successful movies.

The movie screenings for the initial two-days will take place at NFAI Main Theatre, Law College Road and the last day of the festival will be at Phase – II Auditorium.

The festival will showcase eight select acknowledged movies from Korea like: Secret Reunion (2010), A Hard Day (2014), My Love My Bride (2014), and many more.

The festival is open to all, on first come, first serve basis.

The detailed schedule is attached herewith for reference.